
NOW ACCEPTING NEW ARTISTS for Studio Art Sessions

Posted by Alicia Hunsicker - 2008/05/12 14:12

NOW ACCEPTING NEW ARTISTS For Spring & Summer Studio Art Sessions with Alicia Hunsicker

To Apply-

Please have a statement of intent, an informal/formal artist resume, and contact to schedule a preliminary interview/meeting.

I offer thoughtful instruction, and critique in a casual studio setting located in the scenic hills of Leyden, MA. All ability levels and mediums welcome.

Class times: open

Cost is $20.-$30. sliding scale per session.

Private sessions available by request for $35.-$45. per session.

Each session typically lasts 2 to 3 hours.

NOW offering: Creative coaching/consultation

at your home or studio $65. per session

$50. at my studio.

For more information or to see my work go to www.aliciahunsicker.oph3lia.com.

To register for a class time email at mahunsicker@netzero.net

~~~ My teaching philosophy is to help the student find his or her own unique process, style, and imagery. I offer thoughtful instruction on technique, composition, and color. I provide guidance to the next step of personal artistic development. In a typical class, you would be invited to bring your materials and the image or project you are working on. There is an average of 2 to 4 students who are working in different mediums, styles and are at different levels, from beginners to advanced.

~~~Student Quote: "Alicia's classes are most delightful...her arts space is peaceful and filled with beautiful art and light. Alicia is great at guiding everyone in the class, no matter what medium or style they use. She is always most supportive, having a professional "eye" and gentle manner. Alicia has helped me tremendously to improve my painting (step by step) and has definitely encouraged me to find my own individual "style". She is experienced to help both novices and advanced artists." Jenni Allard

http://www.massartandculture.org/components/com_fireboard/uploaded/images/sky_light_pastel14by17inchesforweb.jpg

Post edited by: Alicia Hunsicker, at: 2008/05/12 14:16
